About

In short, I'm a passionate programmer with a strong desire to continue my career in software development. In more detail, I would share that my professional journey took a turn a year and a half ago, when my family and I relocated to Stockholm, Sweden.

Before that, I worked as a junior software developer at a small and creative company named Crafted Code in Belgrade. Our primary focus was on crafting custom solutions for small businesses.

That experience wasn't just a job, it was a dream come true after lots of hard work and dedication to break into this industry. During those six months, I had the opportunity to work on a comprehensive food delivery solution using ASP.NET MVC and C#.

However, my enthusiasm for programming extends beyond my initial comfort zone, and I'm ready to learn new technologies. My objective is to broaden my skill set and actively contribute to Sweden's dynamic software development industry.
